

Appendix C - Name Charts

These name lists are not exclusive. They are a way for the DM to create culture appropriate names at will. They can be used by players to name characters. 100 is a nice round percentile roll. It does not represent the only names one can use. In many cases I had to ruthlessly cull from lists of hundreds of names.

Greek Surnames:

The suffix is added to the Father's given name. They vary by the region the family is from. If two options are given the second is for a female child.

-akis: Associated primarily with Crete (except Anogeia) and the Aegean Islands.

-as: from Macedonia and the Epirus.

-atos: A suffix of Trantian derivation.

-elis and -ilis: From the Ashian suffixes for agent, possession and origin; common in Ashia, Mytilini, Lemnos and Imbros.

Name Charts

-allis and -ellis: are both suffixes deriving especially from the Dodecanese, mainly Rhodes

-idis/-ides and -iadis/iades: meaning 'son of' or 'descendant of'.

The suffix -idis is the oldest in use. Mainly found in Valon

-opoulos -opolus: Is the most common suffix along the Eyrrian coast from Delta to Seahaven.

-oglou: Ending seen in those from the area south of the Southern Mountains.

-ou: genitive mainly from Cyprus.

-akos: mainly from Laconia particularly the Laconian part of the Mani peninsula (Maniots).

-eas: mainly from the Messenian part of the Mani peninsula (Maniots).

-tis, -otis: meaning "of" a place the Greek person's ancestors are from.

-tzis, -tsis: a profession just as English "er" in "worker".

Hindi Names

The Hindii custom is to have a given name and the Father's Surname. This can differ if for example; the Mother's family is without male issue. Second sons will carry the Mother's name to preserve the line.

Women add the Husband's name to their own. If the woman's Caste is greater, either she will not do so or her Husband will change his name.

Horseclans Names

Surnames are not used among the clans. If more than one Goshin is around they are "Son of", or the clan names are used. Nicknames are common. Don't do something embarrassing at age ten you don't want remembered forever.

Women assume the clan name they marry into.

Equars also use Horseclan naming customs.

Novimeer Names

Novimeeran names follow the Father's name plus -vich or -von depending on the gender of the child. If the name ends in a consonant an "I" or "a" will be added. Married women will usually assume the Husband's surname, unless she is really unhappy with the marriage. A married woman still styling herself "Adamavon" is not a happy woman.

Centaur Names

Centaurians use either Elven style or Greek names. They do not use surnames.

Dwarf Names

Dwarves follow a given name, Father's surname model. A married woman does not change her name.

Dwarves being Dwarves they will be reluctant to give their actual surname. Hence the names are in the "common tongue" not Dwarvish.

Elven Names

The names here are mainly Calaquendi. The most commonly played Elves in the game.

Elven surnames are those of both parents. The standard practice, "Given, Mother's Surname, Father's Surname" Unless the Mother is of a greater social station or reputation. Elves will occasionally add a name for various reasons as well. A sibling might add the name of a dead brother or sister as a memorial for example, to see the name carried on. They can also gain appellations for deeds done. An Elf without three names gets looked at funny by other Elves.

Elves are naming fluid. Married women typically use their Husband's surname, unless she is more socially important and he will use her surname. If both lines are on shaky ground, a rare thing, they will hyphenate, joining the two families.
